BISHOPS URGE GERMAN PRIESTS TO BE CAUTIOUS

Cardinal Declares Prelates Being Watched

By Melvin K. Whiteleather
Associated Press Foreign Staff.
Berlin, Sept. 6.—(AP)—An earnest appeal to Catholic priests to "stop, look and listen" before going or speaking, as they are being watched for material to be used against the church, was issued today by Roman Catholic bishops.

A letter signed by Johannes Cardinal Bertram, the senior cardinal, made clear the prelates are attempting to give the Nazis as few opportunities as possible to attack the church. The policy the church will adopt toward the state was discussed by bishops at a recent conference at Fuld.

Priests were asked to preach "fundamental truths" avoiding references to current political affairs.

The letter said "the personal conduct of priests and members of orders are observed today with doubly sharp eyes. The searchlight is being turned from the past to the present for material for 'propaganda' (the title of a book attacking the clergy) and for exaggeration of individual traits and unwise priestly actions, to bring disrepute upon the entire clergy and the Catholic church."

The bishops admonish again priests and preachers to avoid all political statements and references from the pulpit of the church and in private conversation.

Coulas Charges Four With Arson

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 6.—(AP)—State Fire Marshal Sherman Coulas today formally charged four Chicagoans with arson in the burning here yesterday of a home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley May, Chicago.

He held Mrs. May and Mrs. May Anton Zankowski, 42, a housewife, and Dr. Frank Lock, 47, a physician, who lived in the home, charged with arson.

Coulas said the Chicagoans told him they set fire to the home, which was owned by the Keweenaw Co., Chicago.

Coulas said that in his alleged confession, Zankowski said he was informed Dr. Lock held a $400 promissory note against Mr. and Mrs. May and that he agreed to have the house burned to get the money on the note.

Coulas said Dr. Lock denied knowing anything about the fire.

PIERCY SENTENCE IS DEFERRED BY JUDGE

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 6.—(AP)—County Judge John Kincaid today deferred sentence until Sept. 14 in the case of Frank Piercy, charged by a jury of twelve in the Cook county trial of the fire here May 28.

Piercy's attorneys moved for a new trial after the verdict was read this morning. Under the law, Piercy faces a maximum sentence of six months in the county jail or at the Vandalia prison farm and a fine of not more than $200.

Piercy was accused of leading about 40 men on the night of the fire to the warehouse and forcing their entrance. Twenty-five officers were stationed in the court room during the trial to prevent further disorder.

Canadian Wheat Board Has Fixed Minimum Price

Fort William Pegged
At 87 1/2 Cents

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Acting upon the recommendation of the Canadian wheat board the governor in council today fixed the minimum price of No. 1 northern wheat at Fort William at 87 1/2 cents a bushel.

The cabinet council held a late session this afternoon and approved the price which will be effective throughout the current crop year, that is, until July 1936. Announcement of the price was contained in Prime Minister Bennett's radio broadcast tonight.

Establishment of the minimum fixed price is in accordance with the statute adopted at the last session of parliament creating the wheat board and its advisory committee and giving it power to buy wheat from producers at the fixed minimum price, so that the producer need not dispose of his wheat at a lower figure.

TROOPS HAVE RETURNED TO HARLAN, KY.

Governor Guarantees Citizens Right To Cast Ballot

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Kentucky's army tonight advanced again into Harlan county, turbulent coal fields on the eve of Saturday's bitter run-off primary for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The assassination of County Attorney Elmon C. Middleton, blasted to death by a hidden charge of dynamite Wednesday, several years of disorders and violent deaths and the declaration that troops were necessary to guarantee the citizens the right to vote as they desired were cited by Governor Ruby Laffoon among his reasons for again sending in the troops.

"I see no need for troops," said County Judge Saylor in Harlan. "No life or property has been threatened or is in danger." Other Harlan county officials, most of them acknowledged foes of Laffoon's administration and Thomas S. Rhea, the administration candidate for the Democratic nomination, refused to comment.

Rhea in an address charged that the county attorney was killed because he had evidence to present to the grand jury of irregularities in the August primary.

Harlan county officials in a joint statement declared the dynamite hidden in Middleton's car that blew him to death was placed there to prevent his presenting to the grand jury evidence against illegal operation of slot machines. Four men were arrested yesterday by Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton on warrants charging murder of Middleton. Today the sheriff filed a suit declaring Oak Noe, one of them had operated slot machines. Circuit Judge James M. Middleton ordered all slot machines brought in.

Adjutant General Henry H. Denham, who led 700 troops into Harlan for the August primary was named to head them again. He was given instructions to "use the entire National Guard and to employ 'such force as may seem to him reasonably necessary to avert interference with the right of any Democratic voter to cast his ballot."

General Denham was indicted on criminal contempt charges and charges of interfering with the voting in the August primary after he took in troops in defiance of Judge Gilbert's restraining order. He refused to appear in Harlan, saying he feared assassination, but finally made $10,000 bond.

Governor Laffoon declared many citizens had severely requested him to send troops and that "it further has been reported to me in the event that the real assassin of Elmon Middleton are apprehended, that the vengeance of the people will take effect in mob violence."

Champaign Mayor Says Gambling To Be Stopped

James Flynn Has Closed All Establishments In University City

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Mayor James Flynn said tonight gambling establishments which once had their boom season when the University of Illinois brought 10,000 students back to the campus in September are closed and will stay closed.

Fred H. Turner, dean of men at the university, said no pressure from the university had prompted the mayor's action, but he added gambling often took a slice of the student's money when they returned in the fall. He estimated the students bring approximately $100 in ready resources—a total of $1,000,000.

Gambling establishments were closed by Mayor Flynn as fast as they opened this summer. Recently the owners of these "businesses" complained the mayor's harsh action had thrown 150 men out of work.

Answering a report that gamblers intended to move over into the twin city of Urbana, Mayor John Gray said tonight they "will not be tolerated in this city."

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM WORSE JOHNSON SAYS

Revival Of Principles Of NRA Suggested By General

French Lick, Ind., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The unemployment problem is worse than ever before despite improving business, Hugh S. Johnson asserted tonight in calling for a fundamental interpretation of the constitution to restore NRA.

"In my opinion the unemployment problem is worse than it ever has been," the former NRA chief said. "It can only be solved by some revival of at least the principles of NRA."

Gen. Johnson, works progress administrator for New York City, addressed the Indiana Bar association.

"Public works are not doing the job and will never do it," he asserted. Private employment is the need "to keep the wheels of industry turning."

"It is a national problem if for no other reason than that no state can handle it."

"Nobody knows the extent to which unemployment was increased in this country immediately after the destruction of NRA," he said, "but it was clear from thousands of reports in the City of New York and from conversation with some of the greatest employers—that wages were reduced not less than 20 per cent and hours increased by the same percentage."

"I know of one great commercial enterprise in which 17,000 people lost their jobs within a few days by reason of the destruction of NRA. x x x."

All that is necessary to restore NRA, he said, is to accept an early interpretation of the constitution by Justice John Marshall that "in commerce are one people" and that labor in industry is an integral part of commerce.

YOUTH KILLED IN Airplane Crash

Chicago, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Buckingham Chandler, 19, Winnetka, son of a socially prominent real estate man, died in an Elmhurst hospital tonight from injuries he received today when the rented (Aerocar) plane he was flying crashed near suburban Barrington.

It isn't, he added, "because I haven't got money—I'm lousy with money."

NOT BASED ON FACT

Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Representative Hamilton Fish of New York today rapped as "purely a political statement, not based on fact," President Roosevelt's declaration that the peak of the depression emergency has passed.

"If there were confidence in this country, and all the resources and the same manpower of 1929, business would expand rapidly and labor would be employed," he said.

CREMATION OF STORM VICTIMS' BODIES ORDERED

Governor Attempts To Avoid Pestilence And Disease

Miami, Fla., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Governor Dave Sholtz tonight ordered the cremation of all bodies of storm victims in the Florida Keys not yet placed in caskets "in order to avoid pestilence and the danger of disease."

Declaring "the exigencies of the situation prevent setting any time for starting cremation," the governor said it probably would begin some time tomorrow.

His action followed a recommendation by Dr. Henry Hanson, Florida health officer, who returned from a survey of the stricken area.

"The only thing to do is burn the bodies," Hanson said.

The governor himself earlier had made an aerial inspection of the area laid waste by Monday's hurricane. Although expressing the opinion that cremation might ultimately be necessary, he said the final decision was up to health and relief authorities.

Toughest Men In San Quentin Are Hanged For Crime

Die Side By Side While 65
Witnesses Look On: Lawyer
Is Sick

San Quentin, Calif., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Two of the toughest men ever received in San Quentin—Ethan Allen McNab, 38, and William Bagley, 36—were hanged side by side today while 65 witnesses looked on.

"It was about the only hanging we ever really enjoyed," said James Callery, a guard.

William S. Swinwell, an attorney, who was witness on McNab's request to "include your genial countenance among the sea of hostile faces" became violently ill.

McNab and Bagley, notorious robbers had won the sympathy of many of San Quentin's 6,000 prisoners by their ingenious attempts to escape and were regarded by officers as a menace to the peace of the overcrowded institution.

Bagley already had staged escapes from Okla. prison in British Columbia and at Bellingham, Wash. McNab almost escaped from Folsom prison years ago. They made two spectacular attempts to slip from San Quentin, the final one last Sunday.

McNab had boasted he never would be hanged.

When their hour came, they walked almost jauntily to the gallows. The trap was sprung just 58 seconds after they left their cells. They were pronounced dead after having dangled 13 minutes from their ropes.

They were hanged for assault with a deadly weapon while serving sentence—a capital offense in California. One of their attempts to escape led to the hope in that fashion.

East St. Louis, Ill., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A coroner's jury today held Jesse Thorpe, 47, poolroom proprietor, and his son Sylvan Thorpe, 21, responsible for the death of Ralph Webster, Colmer, 22.

Colmer died Wednesday night. The jury found death was due to a brain hemorrhage which followed blows from a blunt instrument received in a fight last Sunday.

Detective James Craft last night said Sylvan Thorpe had admitted beating Colmer with a pool cue when Colmer and another youth entered the pool room and quarreled with the Thorpes.

NEW PRISON IS RECOMMENDED BY COMMITTEE

State Penitentiaries Are Overcrowded Report Says

Chicago, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The construction of a new penitentiary, and new dormitories in established prisons were proposed today in a report to A. L. Bowen, director of the Illinois department of public welfare.

A committee appointed by Bowen last month consisting of Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher, chairman, Prof. Robert W. Miller of the Northwestern University law school and Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, submitted the report.

Because of visit to institutions at Joliet, Stateville, Menard, Vandalia, Pontiac and Oakdale convinced them Illinois prisons were overcrowded, the committee recommended the erection of a new penitentiary having at least 2,000 acres of ground and being sufficiently large to house 1,500 inmates.

A suggestion that sufficient land be purchased to make farming the basic industry of penal institutions was discounted, the report said, by the "serious problem of lack of work for prisoners. They proposed that men work on the farms and be employed in related industries, such as canning the farm produce."

A fund of $1,250,000 is earmarked in the state's biennial budget for proposed prison work. The committee expressed the opinion their suggestions would exceed that amount.

Specific recommendations for the various existing institutions were:

Joliet—Reduce inmate population to 900, giving each prisoner a separate cell, remodel guards' living quarters, remodel the hospital and transfer bedridden patients to Stateville hospital.

Stateville—Construct an assembly hall, a dormitory outside the walls with a 200-man dining room, a dormitory within the walls and additional dormitories on the farm for about 200 inmates.

Menard—Purchase 1,000 acres of land, construct farm dormitory house and a new building to house 500 psychiatric patients, enlarge and fireproof present assembly hall, and build new one and reconstruct interior of old hospital building.

Pontiac—Purchase 2,000 acres of land, construct farm dormitory to house 200 men, assembly hall, another dormitory within walls to house 200, a 150-bed hospital and a printing shop.

Vandalia—Purchase 2,000 acres of land, construct four new dormitory buildings, an administration building and a hospital.

Crisp Comment in The World News By Associated Press

By The Associated Press

Dr. F. Ernest Work, former educational advisor for the Ethiopian government, discussing possible hostilities with Italy.

"If Italy does conquer Ethiopia twenty-five years would be required to subdue its people. A destroyed Ethiopian village can be rebuilt immediately and it would cost just as much to bomb a village as it would the Woolworth building."

Hugh S. Johnson, asserting the unemployment problem is worse than ever before despite improving business.

"In my opinion the unemployment problem is worse than it ever has been. It can only be solved by some revival of at least the principles of NRA. Public works are not doing the job and will never do it."

Er. Malcolm Campbell, British speed king.

"There is no limit to land speed but modern cars are not fast enough to attain greater speeds than 300 miles an hour."

John Coolidge, son of the late former president, informing interviewers he prefers radioing to politics.

"I've never really had any desire to mix in politics and there is little danger of my being asked. Politics always have impressed me as a job demanding a great deal from a man, too much for the recompense it provides."

French sources said Laval planned to send his proposal to the subcommittee appointed today, and pointed out that it would possess additional attraction for Mussolini as Italy would be given military privileges in Ethiopia at the beginning of the protection of Italian interests and all Italian settlers.

The scheme was described as being merely a suggestion the success of which would be dependent upon Ethiopia's acceptance of it.

In the formation of the subcommittee today, Mussolini, making one of his rare concessions, telephoned his spokesman, Baron Pompeo Aloisi, he would no longer insist that Italy be on the committee if France and Britain were to be members. Previously, if Duce had insisted that Italy be represented on the group if the great powers were.

This demand from Mussolini was found impossible because if the council put Italy on the committee it would also have to appoint Ethiopia.

The virtual effect of the appointment of the sub-committee will be to reopen the Paris 1918-power conversations, which broke down when Mussolini refused to accept as a basis of discussion an offer prepared by Great Britain, giving Rome wide economic concessions in Ethiopia.

Mussolini carefully maintained liberty of action. As he announced through Aloisi to the council, he feels free to adopt any measures toward Ethiopia and so now he has not pledged himself as to what attitude he will adopt when the sub-committee gets down to business.

At the same time, a suggestion that a ten-mile stretch of the keys be turned over to the United States as a pestilence was made by Louis J. E. Fairbank, director of coast guard rescue operations.

In connection with his cremation order, Governor Sholtz said he had ordered immediate burial of all bodies held in Miami and those in boxes in Matecumbe cemetery, on the key where the storm struck most violently.

He added that every effort would be made to identify the bodies. Most of them were those of war veterans living in FERA construction camps while they worked on the overseas highway across the keys.

The cremation of one body, that of a woman, was reported tonight to the Red Cross by Thomas Conroy, a rescue worker.

The latest casualty list issued by the Red Cross showed 446 persons dead or missing. About 125 bodies had been brought to Miami and placed in mortuaries. Of these, only 41 were listed as definitely identified.

That "Breathing Spell"

The nation is now told that the extraordinary legislative program of the New Deal is ended for the present, and that the government, which holds in its hands more power than any democracy should safely claim, will gratuitously allow its citizens a "breathing spell." That is something to be thankful for, but the breathing is likely to be rather labored until the people become accustomed to the new brand of atmosphere, so frightened with socialistic gasses and fumes of radicalism.

As the nation takes stock of itself after the deluge of new laws it finds its enterprises emerging from a long depression, but carrying burdens that are a decided handicap on the road to recovery. The chief burden is a staggering national debt, which must be paid with the surplus earnings of the people, if any, for years to come. To lift that debt will require hard work and such self denial as will keep the living standard from raising for a long time to come.

Another burden is a strange assortment of new taxes levied by states directly upon the people, taxes that bounce into the lap of the wage earner, who cannot pass them on to anyone else. The taxes have not yet begun to make themselves felt, as they will when Uncle Sam looks about for new sources of revenue to meet the heavy charges on the national debt.

Another burden upon the nation is a more complicated government throuout the political system. The people have looked to government to do more and more, and government has been taking on responsibility with a vengeance.
Those who are seeing fond dreams of a socialistic regime realized must remember that the more government is asked to do the more it must be paid for doing it.

Thus the nation staggers out of the worst of the depression into a rarefied atmosphere, carrying heavy burdens, and is told it may now have a "breathing spell." According to the good New Deal custom, we have been told what to do next. We shall now begin breathing with ecstasy; but we are in the predicament of the fat man climbing a steep hill; our breath comes only in short pants.

the relatives. There are no strings attached to the gifts.

Mr. Orr, who has been three times clerk of Brown county and was formerly a member of the Chester state penitentiary commission, admits he has enough money for his own purposes. He has planned this distribution out of his surplus accumulations of wealth. His nephews and nieces are doubtless glad he thought up the plan and decided to make them his beneficiaries.

The thing is so unusual that it has gained wide publicity. It is of course the idea of one individual for sharing his own wealth, with which he has a perfect right to do as he pleases. The "share-the-wealth" doctrine preached by Huey Long and so widely advertised contemplates the sharing of other people's wealth, which is an entirely different matter. The test of sincerity for its advocates might well be whether they would be willing to follow the example of Mr. Orr.

The New Traffic Code

The removal of power from justices of the peace to try traffic violation cases under the new state code is causing considerable discussion. The power was taken away thru the imposing of jail sentences in addition to fines, as penalties in the new code. A justice of the peace in Illinois cannot impose jail terms.

AAA Names Another Strong Man for Consumer Counsel
... Montgomery Will Carry on as Did Predecessors ...
Miles' Appointment Seen as Purely Political ... Hitler Threat Against Russia Is Watched.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington
Correspondent

Washington—AAA has come in for plenty of criticism for its past callousness toward consumers, all of which your correspondent has reported faithfully and zealously.

But it must be said for Secretary
Wallace and Administrator Chester Davis that, even though at times they may have succumbed to pressure of combinations of food industry lobbyists, farm group lobbyists, and politicians who figured the consumer could go hang, they have persisted in appointing able, honest, and aggressive men to represent consumer interests in AAA councils.

Anyone who has watched this government operate for a few years must be surprised that they haven't appointed complacent, easy-going job-holders who could be depended on not to annoy them.

The new Consumers' Counsel at AAA is Donald Montgomery, who succeeded Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, who succeeded Dr. Fred C. Howe.

Montgomery is just as active and conscientious as his predecessors and just as determined to see that consumers get the best possible break under a program which necessarily jacks up food prices.

He was a naval ensign in the World War, was a classmate of Calvin Hoover at the University of Wisconsin,

served with a Wisconsin commission which was a sort of state version of the Federal Trade Commission, joined the FTC here and participated importantly in its investigation of chain stores, was switched to SEC, where he helped frame registration regulations, and eventually was recruited to AAA by Hoover as the latter's assistant.

He'll Uphold Consumer
Montgomery will follow Hoover's policy of constantly nudging AAA chiefs and reminding them of the consumer. If you happen to be one of those consumer persons, you can well afford to take a bow to the departing Hoover, who urged Montgomery as his successor and is now going back to his professional job at Duke University.

Hoover finally persuaded the administration that it should maintain a policy of refusing to cut down supplies of food below those normally available for domestic consumption.

Nobody paid much attention to his words, but Wallace recently enunciated the Hoover policy—a milestone
for AAA—as follows:

"Two things we want to be sure of.
One is that there will be the same quantity of food per capita available to the American people as during the decade of the '20s; that is, that we take care of the consumer. The second is that quantities available in excess of that, for which foreign purchasing power is no longer available, should not be produced."

And if AAA starts to forget the first part of that, Montgomery will be there to remind it.

Obvious Political Plum
Appointment of Democratic National Committeeman Vincent Miles to the Social Security Board is an obvious political appointment and a Roosevelt favor to Senator Joe Robinson, who faces re-election, complimented by Huey Long troubles, next year.

You didn't hear about it, but the name of Miles popped up once before.
Roosevelt suggested him to Secretary Ickes as a candidate for the new job of undersecretary of interior.

Ickes was urging his personal assistant, Harry Slattery—probably the best man in Washington for the job, but no great favorite with professional politicians. Ickes holed in pain when Miles was suggested.

Then Roosevelt and the interior secretary "compromised" with the appointment of ex-Congressman Charles West of Ohio, White House liaison man in Capitol Hill.

The point of this story is that Roosevelt never seriously considered Miles for the job, but was advancing him to Ickes for trading purposes.
Ickes could hardly refuse to bow to the White House will twice!

Another War Visioned

Don't overlook the possibility that the spreading of the Italo-Ethiopian war may first involve Europe through a German attack on Russia, aided by Poland. International experts here aren't.

The common idea that Hitler is likely to leap into Austria when Italy's back is turned and her strength is in Abyssinia overlooks the fact that Italy's mobilization has, temporarily at least, strengthened rather than weakened her military position in Europe.

The assumption of suspicious observers who take this line of thought is that Japan would simultaneously attack the Soviet from the other end.
In any event, it's unlikely that Hitler will resist the temptation to move into Memel.

Simplicity characterized the cere-cottage on Mt. Epworth ridge at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, uniting in marriage Miss Elizabeth Layman and Richard Thornton, both of Chicago.

The fireplace, banked with green centered with white roses, made the background for the ceremony which was performed by Bishop H. Lester Smith of Cincinnati. The living room was lighted with white candles and baskets of red roses added to the beauty of the scene.

The bride, who was unattended, wore an afternoon suit of white crepe and carried a colonial bouquet of Talsman roses. Master Laurence Austin Sherman, grand nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Dressed in a white linen suit, he carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Mrs. Thornton is the youngest daughter of the late Judge and Mrs.

Monteville T. Layman, formerly of Jacksonville, Ill., who were among the pioneer residents of Epworth. Judge

Would Keep Traffic Cases in Justice Courts in Cities

Maywood Official Sends a Proposed Ordinance to Local Council

The city council at its meeting Thursday night heard a proposal from R. H. Bailey, Maywood, chairman for the Police Chiefs' Committee, to return the power to try cases of traffic law violation to justices of the peace. The communication included a proposed ordinance. The matter was referred to the police and highway committees and the attorney.

Under the new state law the power to try traffic cases is taken from the justices of the peace by the simple expedient of adding jail sentences to the penalties imposed. Under Illinois law jail terms cannot be imposed in a justice court. This means that a traffic violator must have a preliminary hearing in justice court, and then post bond for a jury trial in a higher court.

Because of the complicated procedure, police hesitate to arrest motorists for minor infractions of the code. Illinois cities are facing a let-down in traffic law enforcement. The necessity for taking the cases into higher courts has slowed up the process for punishing violators.

Mr. Bailey says in his letter that a simple plan has been devised, which he is passing on to other cities. An ordinance for traffic regulation that follows exactly the state code has been formulated. Everything is included, except the jail sentence as a penalty. Only fines are imposed for violations. This gives city police power to make arrests for violation of the state codes, but under a city ordinance, and take the cases to a justice of the peace. The fines will go into the city treasury, which would not be true if the arrests were made under the state law.

Galan's Homer Wins For Cubs

Chicago, Sept. 6.—(P)—AUGIE Galan, who tripled in the eighth inning to tie the score, homered at the start of the home tenth today and for the second day in succession, the contending Cubs took an overtime, 3 to 2 decision from Philadelphia.

The Phillies outbatted the Cubs 11 to 6, but Lon Warneke mixed in eight strikeouts to attain his season's 17th victory. Joe Bowman was his victim.

The Cubs scored a disputed run in the first when Ken O'Dea's drive to the right field corner was ruled a fair double, scoring Herman from first. Manager Jim Wilson of the Phillies held up the game ten minutes in futile protest that the ball was foul.

Although they had runners on base in every inning but the sixth, the Phillies scored only in the eighth, when a double by Camilli and singles by Wilson and Bowman gave them a temporary 2 to 1 lead.

Rice Looking for Tough Grid Season

All Opponents Will Be Out After Champions; Have Veterans Back

(This is the fourth of a series on football prospects at leading universities and colleges).
Houston, Tex.—(P)—The maxim that the Southwest Conference football title never spends more than a year at the same school is not worrying Jimmy Kitts, young head coach of Rice Institute's defending champions, but some of the teams on the Owls' schedule are.

The more enthusiastic Rice supporters are predicting that the Owls will sweep through their tough eleven-game schedule without defeat. Kitts, who brought Rice a title in his first year as head coach can't see it that way.

"I'm not afraid of the jinx that pursued past champions," Kitts said. "But I do have a wholesome respect for Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Texas, and in fact, all our other opponents."

The Owls must play Louisiana State, Texas Christian, Texas, Southern Methodist and George Washington away from home. Indications are that all five teams will be hard to beat. Kitts believes every team in the conference will suffer at least one defeat.

Due to the fact that the Owls are in the favorite's seat, with one all-American performer, four all conference men and 21 lettermen returning, their conference opponents will be "gunning" for them. Texas and Southern Methodist, in particular, will be out to get revenge for defeats in close games last fall. The touchdown twins, John McCauley and all-American Bill Wallace, figure to make their last season their best.

The schedule, Sept. 21—St. Mary's (San Antonio) at San Antonio (night); Sept. 28—Louisiana State at Baton Rouge (night); October 5—Duquesne at Houston; Oct. 12—Southern Methodist at Dallas; Oct. 26—Texas at Austin; Nov. 2—George Washington at Washington, D. C.; Nov. 9—Arkansas at Houston; Nov. 16—Texas A. & M. at Houston; Nov. 23—Texas Christian at Fort Worth; Nov. 30—Baylor at Houston.

Tuffy Prewitt in Springfield Fight Whips Joe Dennis

Jacksonville Boy Reverses Previous Decision in Five Round Scrap

Punching hard and flashing form that has featured his last several appearances, John "Tuffy" Prewitt of Jacksonville defeated Joe Dennis, Bloomington boxer in a five round scrap at the state fairgrounds in Springfield last night.

Prewitt won the battle on a decision after piling up a big lead over his opponent. The local boy gained revenge for a close decision rendered against him five weeks ago in a local ring when Dennis was awarded the fight.

There were no knock downs, but Prewitt landed many hard smashes that rocked Dennis. The referee and three judges were unanimous in giving the fight to the Jacksonville amateur.

Floyd Spaenhower of this city dropped a close decision to the veteran Al Stanley of Springfield. The boys are middleweights.

Spaenhower is a new-comer in boxing circles but looks good. He went to Springfield as an alternate, and was not matched until an hour before the battle. Stanley used his experience in ring craft to stay away from the local boy, but there was not much to choose from. It was a matter for the judges to decide.

A large crowd attended the card of twelve bouts at the fairgrounds coliseum, patronizing a benefit for the families of two Springfield boxers who were killed in an automobile wreck between Jacksonville and Springfield. Families of Eddie Shea and Tommy Barry will receive the proceeds of the fight show.

Governor Henry Horner and several other state officials were at the ringside.

Effingham Jockey Killed During Race

Horse Stumbles and Falls, Sending Jockey to Death at Sacramento

Sacramento, Calif.—(P)—A racing tragedy saddened the corps of jockeys and sportsmen at the California state fair today.

Tugging at the reins of a horse running his first race, Harry Jaeger, 27, veteran jockey of Effingham, Ill., lost his life when the animal stumbled and piled up at the half-mile post.

The accident occurred yesterday when the horse, Road Builder, a three-year old owned by George Pollock of Sacramento, was closely bunched with nine other horses in the five and one-half furlong event. As the horse lost its pace and fell, Jaeger was catapulted to the track. His skull was fractured and the horse's neck was broken.

Football officials will hold their first meeting here next Tuesday night to get the latest dope on rule changes and interpretations. The officials, banded together under the title of the Western Illinois Officials Association, are affiliated with the Illinois High School Athletic Association.

Giants Noseout Redlegs 7 To 5

Cincinnati, Sept. 6.—(P)—The Giants had to work the famous Hal Schumacher "jinx" overtime today to beat the Reds 7 to 5 in ten innings and retain second place in the National League pennant battle.

Schumacher outlasted Paul Derringer, Cincinnati's mound ace, to gain his 19th victory of the season, his fourth over the Reds this year and his 18th against Cincinnati in his major league career. In five years as a Giant hurler he has lost to the Reds only once and has been tied by them once.

Cincinnati errors and a bit of dizzy base running that cut the biggest Red rally short helped the Giants along today. They scored five runs in the fourth after getting a start when Ival Goodman dropped Joe Moore's liner, and a misplay by Billy Sullivan helped them tally their final run.

Apparently sunk by the five-run rally, the Reds rallied for three runs in the fifth, making six hits including a triple by Ernie Lombardi and a double by Alex Kampouris. But when they had the corner crammed, Kiki Cuyler was caught off second and Derringer, trying to score on the run-down, was caught at the plate.

Babe Herman's three-bagger, sandwiched between singles by Goodman and Lew Riggs, ended the count in the eighth but tied the Reds' hitting for the day. A single by Rubeen Griz, Paifrey Fabyan of Brooklyn, Mass. is the player to beat if he wins her fourth successive American singles championship.

It had been generally conceded that Katherine Stammers, the comely English miss who is bracketed in the lower half with Mrs. Fabyan, Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles and Freda James of England, would now down her remaining opponents and reach the final round.

"She's a greatly improved player over last year," said Miss Jacobs, speaking of Mrs. Fabyan. "There's no doubt in my mind she can and will defeat either Miss Babcock or Miss Stammers."

"Personally, I feel she will give me a more difficult test than either of the other two."

Postponed for the third successive day yesterday because of rain, play was to be resumed in both the men's and women's divisions today.

Mrs. Logan Coleman was a visitor from Springfield in the business district here yesterday.

FAN BREEZES

By Ernest Savage

Calamity howling coaches already are beginning to be heard over the length and breadth of the nation as they scan their football forces, each one of them looking for that dream of all mentors—the perfect football team.

Particularly entertaining is the remark made by "Doc" McMillan, who says that if his Indiana team wins a single game in the Big Ten it will be an upset.

We even caught one coach saying he wouldn't be able to have a team this year, before he called out his material. He was so sure that the boys would all be pygmies and the coachfield men all using crutches that we asked him why he didn't quit.

However, one of the boys who is enthusiastic about this coaching business has been uncovered. He is Bruno Bierman, White Plains' new boss. Bruno believes his Greene county boys are going to be tough to beat this year.

Clyde McQueen, Beardstown's new coach, found a team that would average about 140 pounds awaiting him in place of the 165 pounders that looked so good for Beardstown last year. McQueen came to Beardstown this year from El Paso.

Both Beardstown and White Hall are putting on the pressure to get ready for their opening game Sept. 20. The game is one of the first to be played this year, and allows three weeks to practice.

Regardless of what happens in football, an interesting winter is in prospect for the bowlers here. Thompson and Koff, the two local men who have gone to considerable expense to put in all new alleys, and new pins and bowling balls, have a place that looks just as a pin, and we hear from experts bowlers, is one of the best they have seen.

League play in bowling will get underway in the near future too. T. C. Callahan, a representative of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender firm which put in the alleys, will be here to help the local lads get off to a good start when the league organization really begins.

IT WILL Cost Less to Build OR Remodel NOW

Insulation Cuts Heating Costs, Makes Homes More Comfortable in Winter

Nature has proven herself right in everything she does to protect her children of the animal kingdom. This is demonstrated in the manner in which she provides for their comfort in cold weather by growing a coat of fur on those that need it, and the colder the climate the thicker the fur.

Man has taken a page from nature's book so that today we wrap our homes in a similar cellular overcoat so that we can save all the heat we can from going out in the winter or coming in through the roof in the summer.

Modern insulation comes in a wide variety of forms and all are more or less efficient. The more flexible the insulation is the easier it is to install after the home is built so that all eaves will be tightly filled as we poke it into every corner.

Government bulletins say that about 50 per cent of all heat lost goes out through the roof and walls, 30 per cent because of leaky windows and doors and 20 per cent other cracks and crevices. This would seem to point to a thorough attic insulation, caulking around windows and doors, and installation of storm sash as the most satisfactory job for the least money.

Such a job costs but little and will pay for itself in a very short time in real money, and the comfort added is without price.

Last Word in Kitchens

Above is illustrated a modern kitchen with which the housewife may compare her own equipment. Included in this interior is virtually every detail that modern kitchen planning has developed to date. Compactness is the keynote with the range, utility shelves, sink, and other appurtenances occupying a minimum of space. A modern feature is the built-in tray rack, noted to the right of the range. Built-in cupboards, floor cabinet, dish shelves also suggest the efficiency of this kitchen's plan. A colorful floor that is easily cleaned and a few pieces of modern metal furniture add another modern touch. Kitchen improvements are possible under terms of the Federal Housing Administration's modernization credit plan.

Basement Windows Add To Utility of Houses

Usually the basement receives very little natural light—the windows are small and improperly located. Since this space should be used, it should be provided with as much light as possible and, in addition, proper cross ventilation.

The housekeeper usually spends many hours in the laundry, which in most urban residences is located in the basement. She must use electric light, and the room is not a pleasant workshop. A game room may be used by adults more often at night than in the daytime, but it should have good ventilation. If this room is used by children as a playroom, every attempt should be made to provide light and ventilation. Even storage spaces should have some natural light and air, for, if the basement has any dampness, leather goods, clothing, etc., will mildew.

It is usually a difficult problem to locate basement windows so that they will not interfere with the external design of the house. When the addition or enlargement of a basement window above the surface of the ground is not desirable, an area may be excavated and the window located below the level of the surrounding ground. Concrete walls are required to hold the earth from sliding into the excavated space, and a concrete floor, properly drained. Planting may be placed along the outer edge to hide some of the space, but care must be taken not to use planting with heavy foliage, which will cut off the light and air.

Child's Attic Studio Will Bring Out Talent

When a child has reached the age to be interested in painting, sculpture, and other arts, a special studio for this work will do much toward developing his talents.

A portion of the attic can be remodeled into an attractive studio room. If there is insufficient light, a dormer may be added, or the window in the gable end may be enlarged. In some cases, glass shingles or a skylight may be used.

A space large enough to hold a good sized work table, cases for materials and books, a comfortable chair or two, and perhaps a small couch should be partitioned from the remaining unfinished attic space. If the studio is left open, it will lack a feeling of intimacy and seclusion. The child needs a room it can close off from the rest of the household.

The floor should be durable, bright and attractive. Linoleum or some other composition floor covering in colors is appropriate. Many interesting tile inserts are available. A pattern of brightly colored animals placed on a dark blue or green base may interest the child. Such floors are also easy to clean.

The walls should be a restful color—soft green or blues are attractive. Cut-out paper murals applied to the finisher surface and shellacked will create definite areas of interest and at the same time maintain a restful effect.

The furnishings can be very gay—clear yellows or oranges, bright blue greens contrasted with white, and many other combinations dependent on the colors in floor and walls. Most of the furniture can be built-in, and the cabinetmaker can build the work table while he is there for the built-in pieces. This table should stand free in the center of the room or nearest the best light and should have a washable surface.

With proper planning, an attractive attic studio room can be added for quite a small cost.

Wallpapers Give Variety to Rooms

New Colorfast Washable Feature Increases Usefulness

Standardization of design and construction cuts building and operating costs for the hotel or apartment house operator—but it tends to produce monotony. The traveling and renting public likes charm and individuality in hostilities as well as at home.

National known operators realize this and achieve individuality in spite of the hundreds of rooms in each hotel. They use the modern washable wallpapers securing variety by several different colors of each of a number of different wallpaper patterns.

Apartment operators find that by hanging wallpapers of designs suited to the architecture of the building and the history of the region they secure that most favorable of all tenant reactions—the willingness to pay a profit-carrying rent.

The advent of absolute colorfastness followed by the much appreciated washability feature has increased the usefulness of wallpaper. Added to the fact that wallpaper can be hung in the morning and the rooms occupied the same day without fear of unpleasant odor or harm to the surface, accounted for a 40 per cent increase in sales of wallpaper to hotels and apartment houses in 1934 over 1933.

MANY USES FOUND FOR ATTIC SPACE

Attics are no longer reserved for storage space. Children's playrooms, extra guest rooms or studios now occupy space which once was left for old collections of furniture, trunks, and other little needed objects. Trunks have been relegated to the basement, but no provision for their protection is made usually.

A clean, dry room will protect trunks and other luggage. If it is made a proper size, it will be used only for luggage. When the housewife goes to pack for a summer vacation, she will find the pieces she is looking for, and these in good condition.

It is an aid in protecting luggage to build racks for it a few inches above the floor. This is an added precaution in localities where it is difficult to keep the basement dry.

Housing Hints

Care in Mixing Paint

Improper mixed paints and paint materials are the direct cause of many painting failures. It is advisable to pour off one-fourth of the contents of a can of paint into another clean receptacle. Loosen any settled pigments with a paddle. The paddle should be one and one-fourth inches wide for a one-gallon can and three inches wide for a five-gallon can.

Mix the paint thoroughly, using a lifting and beating motion. Then gradually add the liquid poured off, stirring this in well.

Combine the paint several times by pouring it back and forth from one can to another.

CLOSET LIGHT

A light is almost a necessity in much used closets.

Install a door type of switch control. It automatically turns on the closet light when the door is opened.

This switch is convenient and economical. There is no danger of closing the door and leaving the light burning for several hours for the automatic switch will turn off the light as soon as the door is closed.

Trading In Stock Market Is Active

By Frank MacMillen,
Associated Press Financial Writer.
New York, Sept. 6.—(P)—Stocks pushed ahead today in animated trading to a new 1935 zenith.
Many of the active trading favorites gained from 1 to 4 points each as Wall Street forces welcomed President Roosevelt's unexpected declaration that the legislative reforms of the New Deal were in their final chapter, and that the long-awaited
"breathing spell" for business was actually at hand.

With no less interest they noted the conclusion of the chief executive that at this moment conditions are such as to offer further substantial and widespread recovery.
The Associated Press average of 90
stocks rose 7.6 points at 4:04 p. m., passing the previous peak for the year made on August 17 at 40.1, and the 30 industrials bettered the high of Thursday by rising 3.6 points to 66.7. The rail and utility averages went up around 1 point each, but still well under their tops for 1935. Turnover in the stock exchange was 2,135-100 shares, the best since August 27.

Chicago Wheat Market Higher

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Sept. 6.—(P)—Influenced by a 2-cent bulge at Winnipeg and by a new top price season record at Minneapolis, the Chicago wheat market today averaged higher.
Contributing to wheat strength were reports that Russia had got rid of most of her grain surplus to Italy, and thus had curtailed prospective supplies available to other European countries from Canada. The amount reported as thus disposed of by Russia was estimated as approximately 27-750,000 bushels of wheat and more than 8,000,000 bushels of oats and barley.

Wheat in Chicago closed unsettled,
1-1/2 above yesterday's finish, Dec. 92 1/2, corn 1 cent off to 8 up, Dec. 56 1/2-1, oats unchanged to 1 higher, and provisions 2 cents to 20 cents down.
Mill buying of wheat futures was apparently in progress both at Minneapolis and Chicago. Furthermore, domestic flour buyers were reported as beginning to stock up for three months ahead. On the other hand, uncertainty existed as to what price would be announced tonight by the Canadian grain board as a minimum to be guaranteed to wheat farmers this season. Gossip was current, though, that the minimum would be somewhat higher than has generally been expected.

Two Way Trend In Hog Market

Chicago, Sept. 6.—(P)—Hog prices receded from the six-year top today in late trading the market developed a two-way trend.
Weights above 200 pounds closed 10 to 25 cents lower while others were steady to 15 cents higher. The top of $11.90 was paid freely, representing a decline of 30 cents from Thursday's peak, which was paid sparingly.
A receipts bulge induced most of the heavy feeding in the market. Although offerings of 7,000, including 3,000 direct, were still far below normal, the run was above expectations and above a week ago.
Cattle were about steady, although trade in cows slowed. The supply of 3,600, of which 600 were direct, comprised largely butcher cattle.
Steers had a practical top of $11.25, although odd head brought $12.25 to $12.50.
Lambs were strong to as much as 25 cents higher. Natives sold mostly around $10.00 with the best up to $10.25. Sheep were steady. Receipts totalled 9,000.

Will B. Ottwell is Speaker at Rotary

Carlville Man Tells Club Men Something of Walnut Tree Culture Friday

Will B. Ottwell, of Carlville, owner of the famous Ottwell Iris Fields, asked members of the Jacksonville Rotary Club at their regular meeting Friday to join him in his tree planting program, which is extending thruout the country.

Mr. Ottwell, who in October 1934 planted a quarter of a million black walnuts, and now has several thousand trees in his farm, which he will distribute to individuals and clubs thruout the country this fall and next spring.

The Carlville man sends the trees at cost, charging only for packing and mailing expenses.

"You must help me," Mr. Ottwell declared. "I can't do all the planting myself."

He declared that during the past five years hundreds of thousands of trees have been cut down but very few planted.

"The one year old trees on my farm are clean as ribbons and still growing. They will grow about two feet per year. What will they look like 25 years from now?" Mr. Ottwell asked.

"How many million birds will light upon their branches? How many thousand cattle will rest in their shade? How many lovers will see their beauty together? And how much inspiration and wealth to the world will these beautiful little tree mean when planted in ten thousand different places?"

"There should be hundreds of tree
lovers in Jacksonville and Morgan County."

The BLUE DOOR

Rachel Mack
© 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

RUTH WOODSON, 19 years old,
an orphan, feels herself a burden on her cousin the LAWRENCE.
With whom she lives. She impulently takes a bus to the midwest to seek work, and is put off the bus when her money runs out.
A storm breaks and she seeks shelter in a big old stone house with a blue door.

Just as the old woman enters the door, Ruth faints from hunger and is carried upstairs by the old woman and a young man named JOHN Mc-NEILL. The old woman mistakes
Ruth for ELAINE CHALMERS, whose grandfather built the house.

Elaine Chalmers, meanwhile, at Greenville College, was in a society meeting to win the love of her first sweetheart, John Mc-Neill.

Ruth resolves to quit the old house next morning before "PEN-NY," the caretaker, awakes but is caught by the old woman and made to stay. She decides to discover that night. Ruth likes him decided to carry on the deception a day longer. She discovers that the old woman is mentally queer,
and that there is some mystery attached to the blue door.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER IX

AFTER a bath in the big, old, fashioned bathroom that opened off her bedroom, Ruth dressed herself with great care. She put on the white linen blouse she had bought on route and set her naturally curly, short hair with the aid of a comb and a few hairpins.

Even though her future was as obscure and unpromising as a young woman's future can very well be, Ruth was happy in the midst of this strange and piquant adventure which had befallen her.
For a few fleeting hours she was playing the role—and playing it convincingly—of a girl who has everything.

"No matter how drab and commonplace life is for me after today," she reminded herself, "I'll always have the funny little interlude to remember."

Yet even as she hummed a tune and anticipated John McNeill's arrival, her thoughts were beginning to grapple with the problem of tomorrow.

She would leave at dawn, walking out the wide, tree-shaded street that led to Cleveland. She'd manage to get a ride to that direction.

"Other girls do it," she told herself. "And no harm done. All you need is nerve and a level head.
I'll develop both after I've knocked around a while."

John McNeill was arriving.
Downstairs she heard his cheerful voice greeting Penny. He had evidently come in the back way from his home next door. Ruth was assailed with curiosity concerning John's house and she went to the window which afforded the best view of it. Only a tall, slender hedge separated the two big lawns. The McNeill house was not nearly so large as this, its neighbor, and was of red brick instead of stone, but it was more homelike. In spite of its old-fashioned contours (it actually wore a little turret on its roof) it still had an air of today.

The lawn was perfectly kept, and Ruth could

PLAN DRIVE TO RAISE FUNDS FOR BOY SCOUTS

Campaign To Begin Here October 1; Coyle Is Named Chairman

The campaign for the raising of funds to cover the budget needs of the Boy Scouts of Mascoutah area for the coming year will take place in Jacksonville beginning Tuesday, October 1. It was decided by the executive council of the organization at a meeting held last night. The action of the council in setting the date for the opening of the campaign officially confirmed previous plans made by the council.

While plans for the campaign organization were not completed, the council unanimously elected Thomas Coyle as chairman of the drive. Mr. Coyle immediately set about selecting the nucleus of the campaign organization, which will be further discussed at a general institutional meeting to be held early next week.

It was pointed out at the meeting last night that the scouting organization has made wonderful strides in the Mascoutah area during the past year, even though operating within a very reduced budget. With the chance of reaching the required budget this year, the Boy Scout movement in Jacksonville and vicinity will undoubtedly be able to increase the scope of its work during 1936.

Present at the meeting last night were J. N. Conover, council president; and the following members of the council: James Walker, Dr. Willis DeRuyck, Dr. A. B. Applebee, Thomas M. Coyle, A. C. Metcalf, W. R. Gilbert, Fred Darr, August Roy and L. F. Leurig, A. G. Higginberger and Harry F. Pinke, scout executive.
